From the creators of the BAFTA award winning Fonejacker comes the sketch comedy series: Facejacker

Kayvan Novak once again wreaks havoc with the general public, but this time he gets up close and personal. Facejacker showcases Kayvan Novak's amazing array of voices and characters as well as his sublime comic improvisational skills. Not content with merely causing havoc in the UK, the second series sees Novak taking his cast of outrageous chancers, misfits and charlatans to the US...

Disguised with the aid of prosthetics, Kayvan plays a dazzling multitude of fictional characters, including:

TERRY TIBBS: a wheeler-dealing car salesman and rough diamond from Rickmansworth. No shrinking violet, Terry is being followed by a documentary crew as he goes about his business, and he also pops up in other established shows such as Come Dine With Me and Secret Millionaire. In the second series we see Terry hosting his own US chat show.

AUGUSTUS KWMBE: a scam artist from Uganda, Augustus has a wide range of tricks in his arsenal as he attempts to get people's bank details. Despite such varied techniques as setting up his own hypnotherapy business, posing as a river patrol officer to fine fishermen, and infiltrating a supermarket checkout, Augustus invariably comes a cropper.

DUFRAIS CONSTANTINOPE: nerdy blogger Dufrais is a part-time scriptwriter and a full time complainer and pedant. Irascible and confrontational, his unstoppable stream of consciousness invariably leaves whoever he comes into contact with utterly nonplussed. He has written a number of film scripts to which he constantly tries to attach female talent. In the US Dufrais find himself on the Rocky tour from hell in Philadelphia.

BRIAN BADONDE: the charlatan art critic who knows very little but who is more than happy to pass off your wisdom as his own whilst presenting his TV show. In Series 2 Brian goes in search of the true Andy Warhol in Pittsburgh.
