Vegas: where the stakes are high for everyone. Bafta winning journalist Sir Trevor McDonald takes the audience right into the heart of Vegas...

VEGAS

WITH TREVOR McDONALD

This series offers a revealing look at Las Vegas as Sir Trevor immerses himself in a city that is famed for its 24 hour excess and financial extremes. Across the two programmes, Trevor builds up a portrait of real life in this iconic city by venturing far beyond the tourist areas of The Strip to delve into the lives of people who call Vegas home.

From the professional poker player who once won $18 million on the turn of a card to a local bail bondsman on the trail of a wanted man, Trevor searches high and low for people with absorbing tales whose experiences paint a wider picture of life in Vegas. Trevor tracks down a fugitive mobster hiding out in Sin City and meets a former prostitute who now rescues working girls from The Strip and whisks them back to a million dollar safe house in the suburbs.

And, in a memorable encounter, he meets heavyweight boxing legend Mike Tyson at his South Las Vegas home to find out what life is like once the lights have gone down on a gilded career from a man who regularly obliterated opponents in the city's iconic boxing arenas.

Against a backdrop of a landscape that is still scarred by the financial crash of 2008 – the skeletons of stalled casino projects stand along The Strip – Trevor discovers that Vegas is a city of winners and losers where the stakes are high for casino kingpins and ordinary people alike.
