

PROVING THAT THE SUN DOESN'T ALWAYS SHINE, THIS SERIES REVEALS THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIVING IN SOME OF SYDNEY'S MOST DISADVANTAGED COMMUNITIES

Poverty and social disadvantage are things we usually associate with the Third World. But in areas of western Sydney – on the margins of Australia’s most affluent city – thousands of families and individuals are struggling to get by.

In this 3-part observational-documentary series filmed over a six-month period in Sydney’s Mt DrUITt area, we go beyond the tabloid headlines and into the lives of a cross-section of residents living in some of our most disadvantaged communities. Through their stories and voices we shed a light on a range of complex issues – from housing and employment, to problems of addiction and family breakdown – and witness the triumphs and joys that still emerge despite sometimes overwhelming odds.
